VINTAGE

Central Otago is New Zealand's southernmost wine region, and is home to big mountains, pristine lakes, and dramatic skies. The glacial based soils in this region produce wines with fragrant, lush, fruit balanced by delicate acidity.

A cooler growing season in 2021 resulted in small berries with great concentration, flavour and tannin structure.

WINEMAKING

Pinot Noir fruit was carefully harvested in the cool of the night to help preserve the fresh flavours from the vineyard. After harvest, the fruit was cold soaked for five days and fermented in small batches in open-top fermenters. Each ferment was plunged three times a day to extract colour and tannins from the skins. The wine was left to macerate for five days before pressing. The wine was aged in French oak for 10 months, including 20% new oak.
